

Wednesday Seminar Series

Seminars take place in 310 Alderman Hall from 3:30-4:40pm unless noted otherwise

Date	Title	Speaker	Affiliation
Jan 20	Redefining Garden Restoration in Yorkshire	Gail Hudson	University of Minnesota
Jan 27	Arabinogalactan Proteins Regulate Pollen Tube Growth and Interspecific Incompatibility in Nicotiana	Andrzej Noyszewski	University of Minnesota
Feb 3	Writing in the Undergraduate Curriculum in the Horticultural Sciences	Dan Emery	Writing Center, University of Minnesota
Feb 10	Managing an Active Shooter Situation	Officer Shawn Jackson	UMPD
Feb 17	High resolution physical mapping of recombination in maize	Penny Kianian	University of Minnesota
Feb 24	What makes local food different? Research to support direct-market vegetable growers	Julie Dawson	University of Wisconsin
Mar 2	Optimal application of genomic tools in plant breeding	Farhad Ghavami	BioDiagnostics in Riverfalls, WI
Mar 9	Using strawberries as a case study of how fruit production is changing	Emily Hoover	University of Minnesota
Mar 16	No Seminar — Spring Break	—	—
Mar 23	Cultural Differences in the Classroom and Workplace: A Workshop for Faculty, Graduate Students, and Staff	Thorunn Bjarnadottir	ISSS, University of Minnesota
Mar 30	Catalyzing Water Research, Extension, and Teaching Activities at the University of Minnesota	Jeff Peterson	University of Minnesota
Apr 6	Understanding the role of pollinator biodiversity, abundance, and species identity in agroecosystems	Dan Cariveau	University of Minnesota
Apr 13	KERMIT OLSON LECTURE Horticulture for Social Justice: Using Horticulture as a Vehicle for Income Generation and Nutritional Improvement in Sub-Saharan Africa Note: Lecture will be longer than normal, with reception after. Details available soon	Jim Simon	Rutgers University
Apr 20	Precision Breeding of Vitis for Improved Traits	Sadanand Dhekney	University of Wyoming
Apr 27	Some hard nuts, and how one might crack them using metabolomics	Adrian Hegeman	University of Minnesota
May 4	Socio-economics Studies of Specialty Crop Research Initiative Projects	Chengyan Yue	University of Minnesota